36-35 - Collective (Abstract Circuit) Transitoriness

- A jack of all trades - try or do anything in order to keep things moving towards a new experience. There is a constant urge inside for the new adventures in life. This can create a restlessness and desire for the next thing to happen. This is how emotional experience is gained and wisdom is acquired. But one must still learn to be in full alignment with ones strategy and authority or else the restlessness will be at the whim of ones emotional wave always looking for the next best thing without gleaning from the moment.

48 -16 - Collective (Logic Circuits)

The Channel of The Wavelength -

Talent – (Splenic Center to Throat Center) Depth to build skills into mastery. It is an ability to challenge and name what isn't working, and find a potential solution to a problem, or to encourage, correct and refine something that needs perfecting.

Channel of the Alpha – (Throat Center to the G Center) A design of Leadership for good or bad. This channel is about being able to look to the future for the logical good of the collective. This leadership will be based on tried and true tested patterns that can be followed with certainty.

13-33 - Collective (Abstract Circuit) The Channel

of the Prodigal - A witness - (the listener) taking all the information and holding it in order to reveal a deeper truth. This channel links the G Center to the Throat Center. This channel is about taking all the experience and information from the past and bringing it into a state of reflection so that the wisdom can be shared in the best way possible. It is the journey of the Prodigal Son, who goes out to experience the world and then comes back to share for the good of the community. This channel holds a rhythm and cycle of the exploration, reflection and expansion of learning and growing.

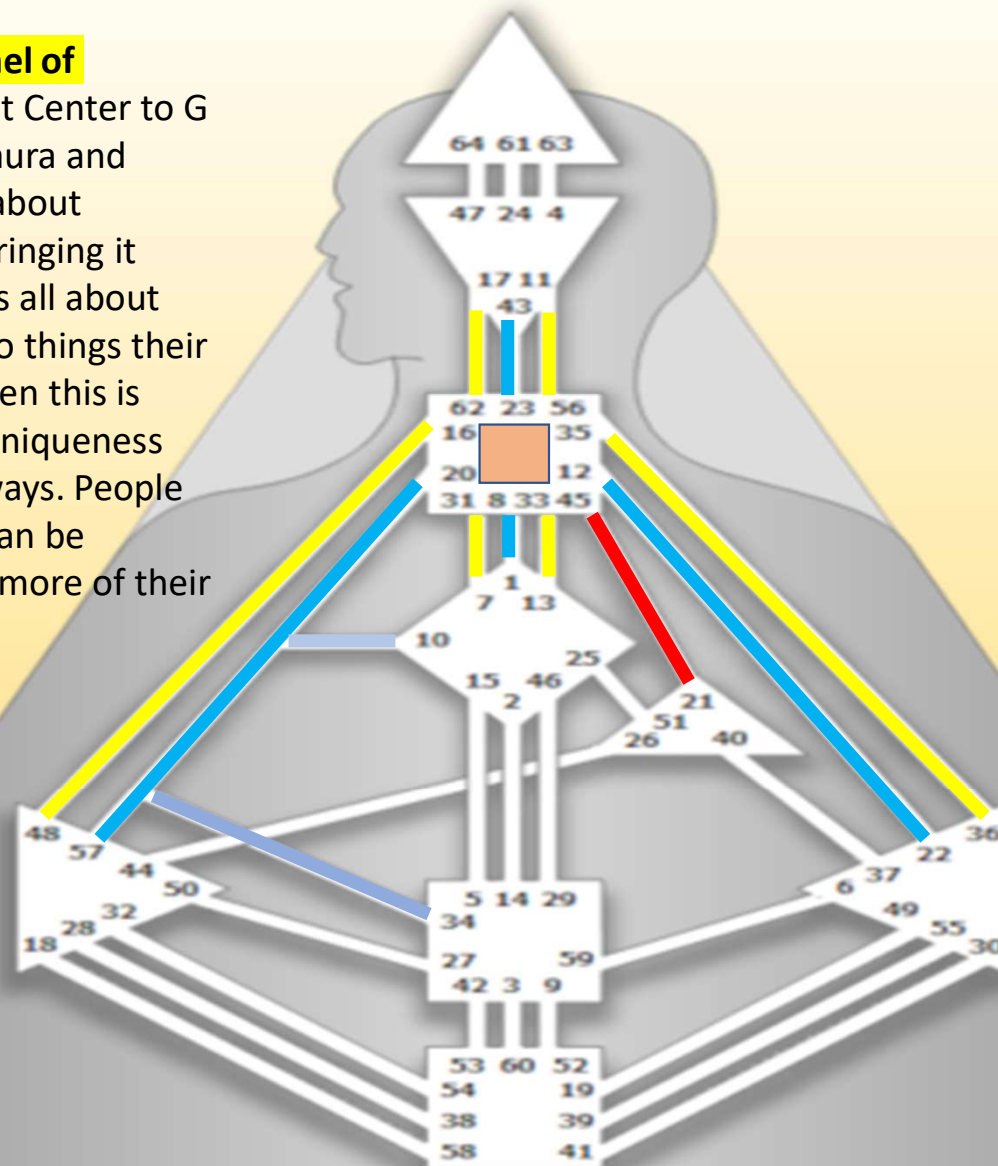

1-8 - Individual (Knowing Circuit) The Channel of Inspiration - The creative role model. (Throat Center to G Center) Ability to move others through the aura and strong enough to be an individual. - This is about bringing the Gate 1 of Self-Expression and bringing it through the Gate 8 of Contribution. Gate 1 is all about being unique and creative. Gate 1 likes to do things their own way and stand out from the crowd. When this is combined with the gift of Gate 8, then the uniqueness can inspire others in an infinite number of ways. People who are in the presence of this expression can be touched in ways that allow them to express more of their truth or awaken more of their soul.

43-23 Individual (Knowing Circuit)

Structuring - Individuality - the ability to explain the new so that the evolutionary change is possible - This channel is all about having a sense of knowing. Your inner ear is tuned to your own inner voice. this is how new ideas are fed into the community and life progresses for humanity.

22-12 - Individual (Knowing Circuit)

Openness - A social being - has a strong emotional wave and the ability to draw the focus of those who appear to have the most mutative potential. - This channel is all about being in the mood. It brings the emotional wave of the solar plexus through gate 22 of Openness into the gate of Caution (12).

The wave of the emotional ebb and flow is moved through this channel and expressed to others with this theme in a creative way. This is the most social channel of all the individual channels, but again, only when one is in the mood. This channel can create the duality of wanting to interact with other but at the same time the fear of being observed for one's uniqueness or worse yet the idea of rejection.

INDIVIDUAL CHANNELS

Backbone of the Bodygraph that serves as the key defense mechanism

These Channels are focused entirely on self-preservation and empowering the individual nature, expression, knowing, direction/identity and behavior of the self.

Those with definition in the Integration Channel are concerned with self-empowerment, and express themselves with a notable self-sufficiency and self-assuredness that neither looks to nor easily accepts direction from others.

10-20 – Individual (Integration Circuit) The Channel of Awakening - INDIVIDUAL INTEGRATION CHANNEL - Committed to higher principles - transforming individual knowing into right action. The drive to be awake and aware and the full awakening to our truth. This channel links the G Center to the Throat center through the Gate of the Behavior of the Self (10) and the Gate of the Now (20). For the awake and aware, each moment presents an opportunity for recognition and commitment to principles that transform Individual knowing into right action. This is action that is tempered by an underlying code of behavior ensuring successful interaction with others. This is the Channel of the “I AM”

57 - 20 - Individual (Knowing Circuit) The Brain Wave A design of Penetrating awareness. Where intuitive insight is given the clearest voice in the now moment. The extraordinary gift of this channel is the penetrating self recognition of the truth of our existence, which is expressed as “I know I am alive now” The Splenic Center creates intuitive awareness to support your own well being in the NOW and to be able to speak your truth. “I am what I am, and I know how to be what I am”

34-20 – Individual (Integration Circuit) The Channel of Charisma - INDIVIDUAL INTEGRATION CHANNEL - Charisma, where awareness becomes deed - the classic manifesting generators channels, where one is asked to remember to surrender to responding. This channel links the Sacral Center to the Throat Center through the Gate of Power (34) and the Gate of the Now (20). This is the classic Manifesting Generator channel where the drive to manifest is guided by Sacral response. The Warrior (manifestor) must surrender to the Buddha (Generator), and wait to respond to external stimuli for one’s charismatic power to be properly directed into the world.

21-45 - Tribal (Ego Circuit) The Channel

of Money - A materialist - about surviving on the material plane as a hierarchy - This channel links the heart center to the throat center. This is about surviving as a tribe in the material place. This is the most driven of all the Manifestor channels. This channel drives the need to help the tribe survive and inspires a voice to step forward and take charge. It is the underlying energy that knows that when everyone is provided for, then there is peace and happiness. There is a great deal of balance that must be honored between the two gates that make up this channel. There is just as much passion for the voice of the heart as there is a drive towards resources and the material plane.
